Batoi Received ISO/IEC 27001:2013 Certification

Bhubaneswar, India – June 27, 2014—Batoi, a leading software development automation company, is delighted to announce that it has achieved the ISO/IEC 27001:2013 certification. This certification demonstrates Batoi's commitment to the highest information security management standards.

ISO/IEC 27001:2013 is an internationally recognized standard for information security management systems (ISMS) published by the ISO (International Organization for Standardization) and the IEC (International Electrotechnical Commission). The standard specifies the requirements for establishing, implementing, maintaining, and continually improving an ISMS within an organization.

The certification process involved assessing Batoi's information security management system, including risk management, security controls, and compliance with legal and regulatory requirements. By meeting the stringent criteria of ISO 27001, Batoi has demonstrated its proactive approach to identifying and mitigating security risks.

Mr. Ashwini Kumar Rath, CEO of Batoi, commented on this significant achievement, saying, "With cyber-crime on the rise and new threats constantly emerging, being awarded the ISO/IEC 27001:2013 certification that is considered as the gold standard for information security is a significant achievement for Batoi. It demonstrates our dedication to maintaining the highest level of data security and our commitment to continuously enhancing our information security practices. Our customers can have full confidence in our ability to protect their sensitive information."
